IN THE HOTEL CORRIDORS.

Kansas office seekers are in a hole. They were entirely covered up, clean out of sight, yesterday by an order from Mr. Cleveland that until they settle their internal disputes and agree upon who shall receive the federal patronage no further offices of any kind whatever shall be filled in Kansas or by Kansans.

The trouble arises from a quarrel between the fusionists led by Senstor Martin, and the original democrats, or, as they termed in Kansas, the stalwarts. Senstor Martin has been in Washington for some time. Yesterday a larger follows: Washington for some time. Yesterday a large terly false.

we want democratic state, and to do so we want democratic and not populists appointed to office. The people of Kansas are fast embracing democratic ideas, especially upon the tariff, and with the right disposition of the federal offices we can so control the state that it will eventually become democratic. A great many fourth-class postmasters have already been appointed who are populists. Many of them don't claim to be anything but third party people and are not democrats. I was informed today that no further offices would be given out in Kansas until this difficulty, which affects the entire state and is incidentally of national importance, is settled."

Washington, March 38.

Hon. Robert Lincoln, United States Minister to Great Britain.

Sir: I duly laid before the President your resignation of the office of envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary, and am now directed by him to inform you that it has been accepted.

In doing so the President directs me to make suitable expression of his high appreciation of the ability, efficiency and zeal with which you have fulfilled the duties of your mission, and his sincere regret that your retirement deprives the service of one of its most honored officers.

around and I felt that I was sinking in the mire. At the thirty-third drink I anxiously scanned the colonels' faces. Not a sign of anything but cool heads and good humor. It was a jack pot. I had fours and I roped it in.

"At the forty-first round I inwardly acknowledged that the colonels had me on the hip. At the fifty-first drink I was as full as a boa constrictor that had swallowed an elephant, and I knew that if I dudn't get in bed inside of fifteen minutes I would be in a state of coma. The colonels were as cool as blocks of ice. My load was very heavy, but I managed to stagger to my feet and publicly acknowledge my defeat Each of the colonels insisted that I should drink his health as a night cap, and I managed to get the three drinks down together managed to get the three drinks down together with one to my own health, and the fifty-fifth with one to my own health, and the fifty-fifth drink settled me.

"The Virginia colonel took my left arm, while the Mississippi colonel grasped my right, the Kentucky colonel leading the way to the hotel on the next block. They were as serene as a summer's day. As they turned me over to two porters and cordially bade me good night I looked over my shoulder as I ascended the stairs, and may I never hope to see dear old Golden Gate again if the three colonels were not just disappearing, arm and arm, into the bar room for another drink!"

C. H. Benedict of St. Paul, s well-known lawyer of that city, president of the Antiprotection Club of Minnesota and formerly district attorney of Waupasha county, is at the Ebbitt.

"I think there is no doubt," said Mr. Benedict to THE STAR representative, "but that Senator Washburn's seat will be occupied two years hence by a democrat. We are very con-fident of electing a majority in the legislature and also a democratic governor. The club of which I am the president is a non-partisan organization, though of course the great majority of its members are democrats. Many prominent republicans, however, who joined it are now warm supporters of the democratic party. This serves as an index of the entire state. It has an agricultural population mainly state. It has an agricultural population mainly, and the tariff question will bring the farmers by next election overwhelmingly into the democratic camp, as it has already to a large extent, for our greatest gains have been in the agri-cultural communities. I think that the populist movement in my state is waning very rapidly, and the people who went into it on the low tariff platform are finding that their place is with the democratic party.

"The tariff reform clubs scattered throughout the state are now actively at work and are out the state are now actively at work and are accomplishing great results, for all the people have not yet been won over. The idea of the western people is that there should be a reduction of existing import duties, to be steadily continued until every feature which gives a bounty to the producer at the expense of the consumer is eliminated."
